

When your child is in emergency care

An Easy Read booklet for parents

How to use this booklet

The Victorian Government Department of Families, Fairness and Housing (DFFH) wrote this booklet. When you see the word 'we', it means DFFH.

We wrote this booklet in an easy to read way. We use pictures to explain some ideas.

Bold

We wrote some important words in bold.

Not bold

This means the letters are thicker and darker.

We explain what these important words mean.

There is a list of these words on page 12.

This Easy Read booklet is a summary of another document.

You can ask for help to read this booklet. A friend, family member or support person may be able to help you.

What is in this booklet?

What is emergency care?	4
Why did we give you this booklet?	6
About the law	7
What happens next?	8
How to get legal help	9
When will you go to the Children's Court?	10
Word list	12

What is emergency care?

If a child is not safe we might put them into emergency care.

Emergency care is when a child is taken away from their:

- home
- parents
- family.

They are moved somewhere safe until there is a hearing at the Children's Court.

A hearing is:

- a formal meeting at the Children's Court
- where decisions about your child's case can be made.

The Children's Court is a place where legal decisions about a child can be made.

A child protection worker is the person who places a child in emergency care.

A child protection worker:

- works for the government

- talks to people to find out if a child is safe

- works to keep children safe.

Why did we give you this booklet?

We gave you this booklet because your child is in emergency care.

We gave you another booklet that explains why we put your child in emergency care.

A child protection worker made this decision.

If you want to talk to someone about what has happened, you can call:

- the child protection worker

- after hours Child Protection Emergency Service (after 5pm and on weekends).

13 12 78.

About the law

There is a law that says we can put a child in emergency care to keep them safe.

That law is called the Children, Youth and Families Act (2005).

This law helps us:

- support families

- protect children if they need it.

What happens next?

There will be a hearing at the Children's Court.

The Children's Court will now think about the decision to put your child into emergency care.

It's important you take part in the hearing.

If you have a legal representative, they will go to the hearing too.

A legal representative is someone who can:

- give you legal support
- support you with legal decisions.

How to get legal help

If you don't have your own legal representative, you can:

- choose one
- get help from Victoria Legal Aid (VLA).

VLA is an organisation that can give you free:

- information about the law
- legal help.

VLA will give you information to help you in the Children's Court.

You can call VLA for more information.

(03) 9269 0234

When will you go to the Children's Court?

You need to go to Children's Court on:

---

The hearing will start at:

---

The address of the Children's Court is:

---

The child protection worker's name:

---

Their position is:

---

Their work address is:

---

Their phone number is:

---

Their email address is:

---

The child protection worker's signature:

---

Today's date:

---

Word list

This list explains what the bold words in this document mean.

Child protection worker

A child protection worker:

- works for the government
- talks to people to find out if a child is safe
- works to keep children safe.

Children's Court

The Children's Court is a place where legal decisions about a child are made.

Emergency care

Emergency care is when a child is moved somewhere safe until there is a hearing at the Children's Court.

Hearing

A hearing is:

- a formal meeting at the Children's Court
- where decisions about your child's case can be made.

Legal representative

A legal representative is someone who can:

- give you legal support
- support you with legal decisions.

The Information Access Group created this Easy Read document using stock photography and custom images.

The images may not be reused without permission.

For any enquiries about the images, please visit

www.informationaccessgroup.com. Quote job number 3749-F.