

De-identification of a child as Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander by Child Protection during intake phase only

Note: Where the term Aboriginal is used it refers to Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander children.

This process is to be followed if the case is in intake phase and consideration is being given to changing a child's status from Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander to neither Aboriginal nor Torres Strait Islander.

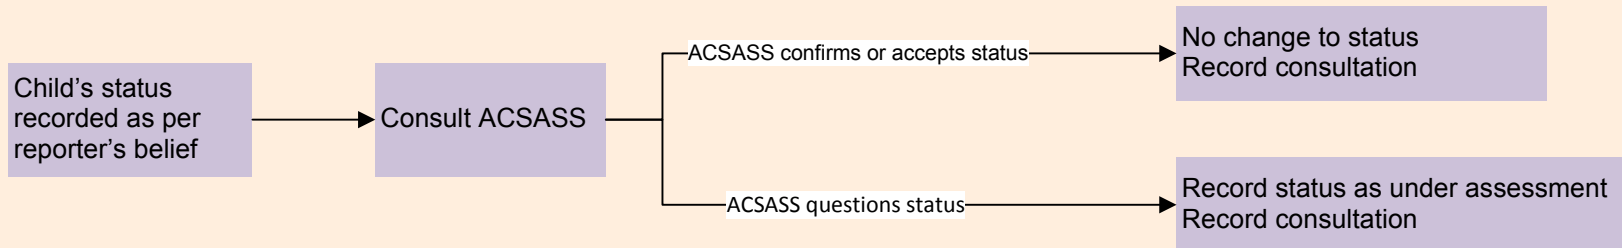

Refer to 'De-identification of a child as Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander by Child Protection during intake phase' procedure and related advice.

Scenario 1: Child's status is recorded in error

Child protection practitioner task

Scenario 2: Reporter believes child is Aboriginal but is not certain

Scenario 3: New information obtained suggesting child is not Aboriginal

